

ADAM BENZWI Curriculum Vitae

Adam Benzwi is an American pianist, music arranger/director and conductor who has been living and working in Berlin since 1984.

Benzwi grew up in La Jolla, California, where he began working professionally as cocktail party pianist at the tender age of twelve. He attended Columbia University in New York and Stanford University in Berlin. He has had a passion for musical theater since he was a young pianist and has long been dedicated to bringing forgotten popular German music to the stage.

He currently works with Komische Oper Berlin, where he debuted in 2013 as musical director of Ball im Savoy, directed by Barrie Kosky, followed in 2015 by Eine Frau, die weiß, was sie will! His third collaboration with Kosky was Die Perlen der Cleopatra. In December 2017, also at Komische Oper, Benzwi and Kosky collaborated again on the Paul Abraham musical comedy Märchen im Grand Hotel. Benzwi looks forward to conducting Ich wollt', ich wär ein Huhn, an evening of Berliner songs circa 1920-1945 with Swedish mezzo-soprano Anne Sofie von Otter at the Komische Oper, March 2020.

Benzwi began his Berlin career at the Kleines Theater am Südwestkorso, a unique tiny theatre which offers new plays exclusively, with Das Küssen macht so gut wie kein Geräusch, the UFA-Revue: Bombenstimmung and Blue Jeans at the Theater des Westens, Berlin's greatest theater for musicals, and Bezauberndes Fräulein! at the Theater am Kurfürstendamm.

Benzwi was also the musical director of the legendary production of Cabaret (at Bar jeder Vernunft, Berlin's most renowned cabaret, a historical mirrored circus tent) and My Fair Lady at Admiralspalast. Most recently he conducted and rearranged the revival of Offenbach's Die Prinzessin von Trapezunt at Theater für Niedersachsen, March 2019 and J.C. Bach's late baroque oper Zanaida at Staatstheater Mainz, November 2019.

He has accompanied a myriad of German stage and screen stars such as Dagmar Manzel, Andrea Sawatzki, Daniela Ziegler, Gisela May (the most renowned singer of the songs of Bertolt Brecht), Helmut Baumann (director of Theater des Westens) and, last but not least, Germany's raunchiest comedienne, Désirée Nick. He has been working with stage and screen legend Angela Winkler since 2010 and their CD Ich liebe dich, kann ich nicht sagen was released in 2012, followed by concerts at Théâtre des Abbesses in Paris and at Berliner Ensemble. In Marlene by Pam Gems/Volker Kühn, Benzwi accompanied Judy Winter "with sensitive verve" (from review in Die Welt.)

The education of young artists is of strong interest to Benzwi. A few years after arriving in Berlin, he began as the assistant to Stanley Walden to develop the four-year course for musical theater performers at the University of the Arts, Berlin. Today, he is on the faculty as musical director and a professor.

He is a member of the Board of Advisors for the German National Singing Competition and has accompanied the winners with his own band at the final concert at Friedrichstadtpalast, the biggest stage in Europe.

Adam Benzwi can be seen regularly on TV and in the movies, such as THE FLORENCE FOSTER JENKINS STORY with Joyce DiDonato.
